If you have ticked disagree or strongly disagree, we would really appreciate it if you could provide more details below so that we can use your comments as part of our continual drive for improvement:

I am not aware what my child is learning, I vaguely remember seeing a letter but hopefully, now the eschools app is being used I will easily be able to see any letters

I would be grateful for more information about the topics children will be studying during the year/term. We like to support learning by arranging visits to appropriate locations outside of school times (e.g., had we known they were studying the Romans last term, we'd have arranged to go to Hadrian's Wall, etc).

My son would really like there to be more football opportunities in school. He's desperate for a football team for his year (4)

If you have ticked agree or strongly agree in any areas, we would appreciate any particular details you would like to give:

The school has strong SEND support for my child, and my child has improved massively since joining Gainford Primary. My child is understood and work is given to them at their level. My child is accepted by their pupils and other staff for who they are regardless of their SEND.

The school in general is a nice school, albeit a small school. My child seems happy and seems to be progressing well.

X is having a wonderful time at school. He is consistently enthused, happy and full of energy. I think a huge amount of credit should go to Miss Watson and support staff as he is clearly inspired and excited by their teaching and encouragement. We have been really impressed with the activities that the school have made available to pupils and the general atmosphere around school. Thank you.

The school has been fantastic for my child's development.

My child loves school and I feel that she's seen and treated as an individual. She has made excellent progress in Miss Watson's class and I have never had cause to raise any concerns with school. My preference would be for a little more communication around upcoming topics, and more frequent check-ins around progress, but that's in no way a criticism as I appreciate that teachers already have a lot to fit into their days! Thank you to you all.

Seeing the environment and academic changes made in such a short space of time since the new headteacher have all been really positive and made a difference. Having the opportunity to see school life through Facebook posts has been lovely too.

I feel like his dyslexia is managed well and he gets the support he needs.

She enjoys going to school.

It is a fantastic school where X has grown so much in confidence. He is doing well academically and has had no problems there.

My child is thriving. She is enjoying learning, progressing well, especially in English, loves to read, loves to be involved in the community, goes to extracurricular after school clubs and we have excellent communication from school, from admin and teaching staff.

The school provides a balanced education for my child. I fully appreciate the difficulties faced by small schools however, he is happy, making excellent progress and loves coming to school.

The staff know my child really well and understand the things he finds difficult.

Excellent school

I have 2 children at this school at the moment and also my two eldest attended before going to senior school. I feel Gainford Primary has a safe warm atmosphere which is very family orientated. In particular Mrs Gallagher who is a huge asset to the school with her kind and nurturing nature and huge personality skilled with her amazing teaching ability, Also Miss Farley who manages to earn the children's respect but puts all that she has into ensuring all the children's educational needs are met to the highest standard. They are two wonderful teachers who make an amazing team.

X is very happy at school. She is excited and motivated to learn. The children are so lucky to have such enthusiastic teachers who plan activities to inspire them. We especially appreciate the links with the community and surrounding area; the walks to learn about the wild flowers, birds and animals are wonderful. Thank you to everyone involved in making X's school days so much fun.

Both my children enjoy being part of the school's caring supportive community.
